Dear Families

Careers of the Jubilee

I spent last weekend enjoying the Jubilee celebrations with my family, watching my girls play at our street party, enjoying the Stow fiesta and watching the parades on the TV. I began to think about how this all seemed impossible only a few years ago. Later that evening I stumbled across this piece of writing on my social media feed that resonated with my earlier thoughts, so I decided to share it with you all.

'It really is a remarkable thing to see an industry, which not more than a year ago was labelled as not viable, come together to produce something so technically brilliant, so slick, and so beautifully put together as the whole jubilee weekend.

Even knowing some detail of how a production like this comes together from the Heras fence suppliers to the tent builders, the power installation, the sound, video and lighting, the stage builders, the catering, the cleaners, the security, the stage and production managers, the hundreds of stage techs, the outside broadcasters, the journalists, the drivers, the camera operators, the Portaloo providers, the audience management, the health and safety, the wardrobe, and of course the artists and artist management, the whole incredible thing was a well-oiled machine.

If you really think about the detail of it all it is utterly bonkers and it is what our UK production and entertainment industry do so well.

To all those who said this industry was not a vital and important part of our culture or claimed it was no longer viable, who suggested ballet dancers retrained at IT Engineers - how very wrong could you be?

Creative expression through music, song writing, spoken word, theatre, and dance - it is core to our united humanity, it is a shared experience that is unrivalled, it is celebratory, it unites us all whatever our background, culture, religion, race, gender, sexuality, or age. It is human'

Author unknown

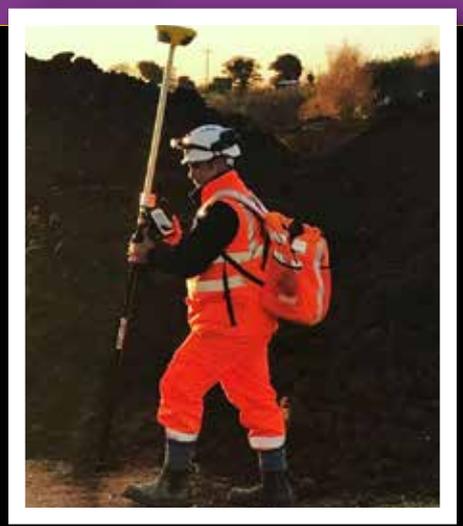

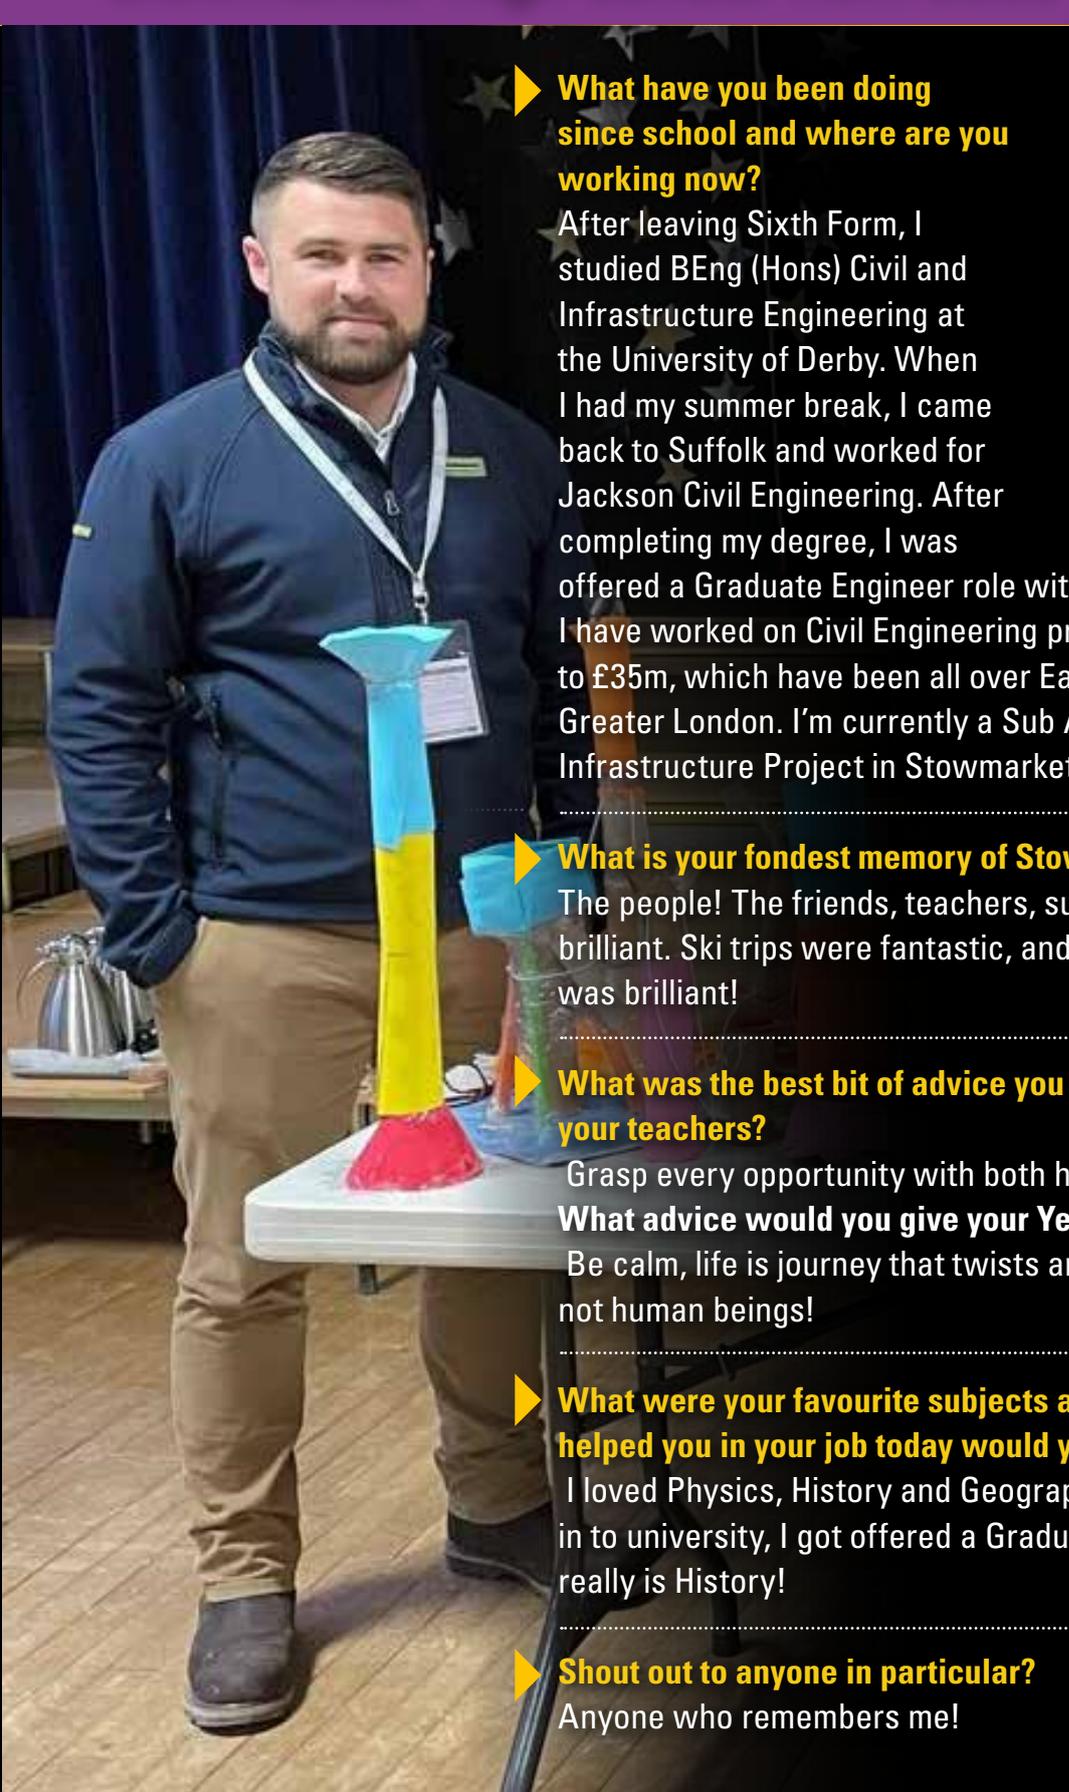

Keep celebrating the creatives in your life, encourage them to thrive and do what brings them joy. There will always be jobs out there for them, and in doing so they bring a smile to our faces too.

I hope you have a great weekend.

Where are they now?

This week we focus on Josh Finbow who attended Stowmarket High School from 2005 - 2010

▶ What have you been doing since school and where are you working now?

After leaving Sixth Form, I studied BEng (Hons) Civil and Infrastructure Engineering at the University of Derby. When I had my summer break, I came back to Suffolk and worked for Jackson Civil Engineering. After completing my degree, I was offered a Graduate Engineer role with Jackson Civil Engineering. I have worked on Civil Engineering projects ranging from £100k to £35m, which have been all over East Anglia, the Midlands and Greater London. I'm currently a Sub Agent on the Gateway 14 Infrastructure Project in Stowmarket.

▶ What is your fondest memory of Stowmarket High School?

The people! The friends, teachers, support staff...everyone was brilliant. Ski trips were fantastic, and the Barcelona football trip was brilliant!

▶ What was the best bit of advice you ever received from one of your teachers?

Grasp every opportunity with both hands and work hard!

What advice would you give your Year 7 self now?

Be calm, life is journey that twists and turns. Pressure is for tyres, not human beings!

▶ What were your favourite subjects at school and how have they helped you in your job today would you say?

I loved Physics, History and Geography. All three helped me get in to university, I got offered a Graduate Engineer role and the rest really is History!

▶ Shout out to anyone in particular?

Anyone who remembers me!

More about the host

This event is hosted by Into Games. We are a non-profit that supports people in finding rewarding careers in the games industry. Find out more about our work at www.intogames.org

If you have any questions drop us a line george@intogames.org

FAQ:

Q: Is this an event for remote jobs only?

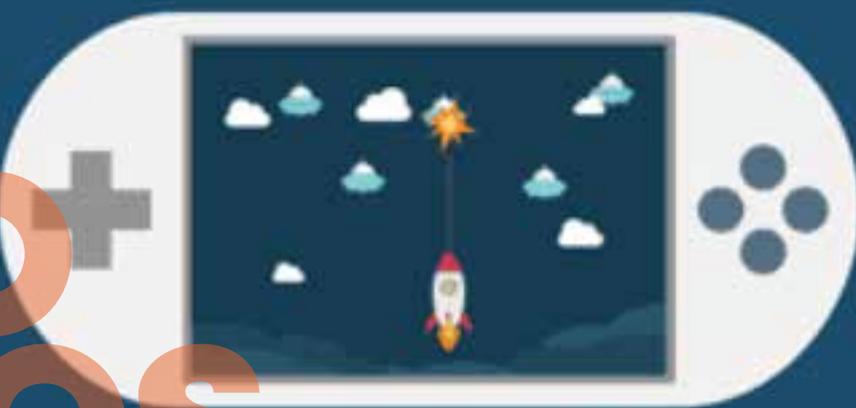

A: No, this is a virtual event but recruiting game organisations will be promoting a mix of remote and in-house positions depending on their studio.

Q: How will the festival work?

A: We will be running three days of activities via Twitch and channels on our Discord server for your chance to engage with hiring game studios directly. All content and activities will be accessible via laptop, tablet, or smartphone.

Q: What type of positions will be showcased during the event?

A: A wide range, from production to programming to design. There will be entry-level and junior roles showcased as well as studios recruiting for senior roles too so this event is also a great opportunity for those looking to change jobs or jump into the games industry from any background, at any level.
