EDITION 6 | 29th September 23

Dear Families

Welcome to a new academic year, full of new and exciting possibilities. Our Inspirational Futures team launched 2023/24 with our annual Next Steps event last night.

It was a chance for our year 11's to meet all of our local providers and talk about what opportunities lie ahead for them; a chance to explore courses, qualifications, trips and experiences that the providers may offer. It always makes for an exciting evening and aims to motivate our young people to achieve their goals, or simply identify some. Application deadlines for 16+ learning open in October and often if a course is popular, it will be on a first come first served basis so don't wait and miss out.

Mrs Mylrea will be ensuring you get application support where needed and you will have additional sessions in PSHE about the types of qualifications available to you. We hope that that our young people and their families engaged in this event and left with a concept of what their next steps may look like.

If there are any further questions or support needed, please contact the futures team.

Where are they now

Our popular Alumni Feature Where are They Now. In this issue we sit down with former Stowmarket High School student Kiara James.

► What have you been doing since school and where are you working now?

Since leaving school, I have worked at Tesco for 5 years while also completing my 3-year Paramedic Science degree at the University of Suffolk

► What is your fondest memory of Stowmarket High School?

My fondest memory of Stowmarket High School was being with my friends every day, you don't realise how much you will miss school when it is all over! I also loved sports day, my form class won the tug of war every year, unbeaten champions from 2013-2016.

► What was the best piece of advice you ever received from one of your teachers?

The best bit of advice I received from my teachers was to never give up. If you follow your dreams, you can achieve them. Mine was to become a paramedic and here I am, living my dream. There really is no better feeling. You can do anything if you put your mind to it.

► What advice would you give your Year 7 self now?

I would tell my year 7 self that it will all work out in the end. All the little worries I had seemed so big at the time, but now I'm an adult, they seem so small. I'd tell myself to believe that I can achieve anything I want to achieve. If my year 7 self could see me now, she wouldn't believe it!

► What were your favourite subjects at school and how have they helped you in your job today, would you say?

My favourite subject was obviously Health and Social care. I knew from the day I chose my GCSE's that I wanted to be a paramedic. Every piece of work I did was adapted to doing my dream career. This really set out the steppingstones for me.

► Shout out to anyone in particular?

My biggest shout out would go to Mrs Arnold, she was my form teacher throughout my time at Stowmarket High School. I'll always remember she used to let my friends and I take over her classroom on rainy lunchtimes. She was absolutely my favourite teacher; I still talk about her now sometimes!

WHAT THEY USED TO DO

This month we sit down with our Subject Co-ordinator for Business Studies and Inspirational Futures Mrs Utteridge.

► What did you use to do before you worked at Stowmarket High School?

Before moving into education, I had a 15-year career in business and economic development. I had numerous jobs in that time including a Contracts Manager, European Funding Officer, and Business Development Manager

► What did 10-year-old you want to be when they grew up? Can you remember?

Unbelievably I wanted to be an actress. Given I can't sing that now seems ridiculous! However, being a teacher means every day I get up on my own stage in Room 2.21, in front of 5 different audiences a day!

► What was the best bit of advice you ever received from one of your employers?

The building will still be standing even if you're not any longer in it. What they meant by this was being committed to your job and the business you work for is clearly important, everyone should want to do the best they can every day but remember your limits. Work life balance is something to be taken seriously so whilst working hard, remember your limits and take time to look after yourself and your family too.

► What advice would you give your Year 7 self now?

I would say high school is an important steppingstone to the next phase in your life. Doing well at secondary school will help to prepare you for your post 16 journey. Embrace as many extra-curricular opportunities (inside and outside school) as you can to help you understand what makes you you, whether that's music, drama, enterprise, sport, volunteering. Then you can make informed decisions for your next steps secure in the knowledge you have tried and tested lots of different things.

► What were your favourite subjects at school and how have they helped you in your job today, would you say?

I love to travel and have worked abroad, and this comes from my love of languages which began when I was young. I'm currently learning Italian on Duolingo. I have taught languages in the past and I am now teaching Inspirational Futures and Business, I regularly reference the interconnections between business and language and how a knowledge of a foreign language can open doors for you in the future but also opens your mind to other cultures.

► What is your career highlight to date?

That is hard to answer after such a long time. I would say successfully bidding for European and/or Government funding for a range of business projects in Suffolk supporting environmental and business development but from a teaching perspective being nominated by my peers on my teacher training course for showing kindness, determination and community spirit. This award was an annual award in memory of a young man who passed away whilst training a few years previously, so it is very special to me.

► Any career low points or comedy moments that stand out?

When you travel for work abroad, there are usually funny or strange moments because of cultural differences. I remember at the end of the 1990's spending some time travelling to work with an organisation in what was previously East Germany. I was very surprised when all the colleagues in the business called each other by their surname. I hadn't encountered this in an office environment and not done since school, so it took some getting used to as it felt so formal. I spent 3 days with them on my first visit and by the time I left we had started to address each other by our first names which they seemed very happy to do.

Apprenticeship Info Evening
18th October, 6pm
Willis Building, Ipswich

Willis Towers Watson

Willis Towers Watson are excited to invite you to our upcoming Apprenticeship Information Evening, taking place on October 18th at 6 PM.

This event is designed to provide you with valuable insights and information to support students in making informed decisions about their future careers. Whether they are considering apprenticeships or exploring various career paths, this evening will offer a wealth of knowledge and resources.

Here are some highlights of what you can expect at the event:

Apprenticeship Overview:

We will walk you through what apprenticeships are, the benefits they offer, and the opportunities available at WTW.

Success Stories:

Hear from our current and former apprentices, showcasing the rewarding journeys they've had at WTW.

Networking with apprentices, managers and the recruitment team.

Application Process:

Learn about the application process, key deadlines, and how to support through the application journey.

Q&A Session:

Participate in a question-and-answer session with apprentices, managers and the recruitment team.

Please RSVP by 6th October to confirm your attendance. You can do so by emailing Charlotte.Steggall@wtwco.com

Supporting students through next-step decisions can be tricky, and we are here to provide you with the guidance and information needed to make informed choices.

If you have any questions or require further information, please do not hesitate to reach out via Charlotte's email above.

Calling All Students Interested in Law Free Half Term Workshop

Atwell's are holding a Problem-Solving Workshop at Atwell's Solicitors on the 25th October 2023 between 11am – 1pm.

This workshop is during half term so hopefully students can attend. It's designed for GCSE students and A Level students and offers great opportunities for networking and to learn a professional skill.

It also can be of use to students to put on their CV's and personal statements for universities.

Students will be able to develop their problem-solving techniques as well as learning about different career paths within law and the different opportunities we offer as a firm.

Skills Bootcamps

Skills Bootcamps are part of the Government's Lifetime Skills Guarantee, helping everyone gain skills for life, funded through the Department of Education and are free (to the learner).

The aim of Skills Bootcamps is to:

- Provide businesses with targeted and flexible training to upskill their employees so they can gain progression within the business.
- Aid businesses to hire people with the skills required and help fill their vacancies.
- Support individuals to develop skills and fulfil their potential and assist people currently un-employed or returning to work to find skilled local employment.

Skills Bootcamps are open to anyone 19+ who has the right to live and work in the UK.

Skills Bootcamps are employer led programmes aimed to meet business needs. The training is delivered by our approved training providers, offering flexible training solutions, with many being delivered remotely.

Applications are now open for the next Data Skills Boot Camp training programmes for eligible learners aged 19+.
